Increase plant health and enhance nutrient uptake // Powered by  VERMITEK

VermiBoost is a proprietary blend of the parent materials found in worm castings. These materials are known to help improve soil tilth, nutrient uptake and stress mitigation. Concept AgriTek took the best qualities that worm castings had to offer and concentrated those elements to create a safe and beneficial soil and plant amendment.

Increased tilth allows for better root penetration at depth, increased water infiltration and increased air flow throughout the soil profile. All of those things are important for stress mitigation and nutrient availability and uptake. VermiBoost has been tested in-furrow and as a foliar with outstanding results in a challenging drought year.
